

TRIMAS ANNOUNCES LEADERSHIP TRANSITION PLAN

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Michigan, January 6, 2025 – TriMas (NASDAQ: TRS) today announced that the Board of Directors and Thomas Amato have agreed that Mr. Amato will transition from the role of President and Chief Executive Officer. The Board has initiated a comprehensive search process with the assistance of Spencer Stuart, a nationally-recognized executive search firm, to identify a successor. To ensure a smooth leadership transition, Mr. Amato will remain with the Company through June 30, 2025, and will remain President and Chief Executive Officer until the earlier of his departure or the appointment of a permanent successor. In connection with this announcement, Mr. Amato will not stand for re-election to the Company’s Board of Directors at the 2025 Annual Shareholders meeting.

Mr. Amato was appointed TriMas President & CEO in 2016 and has been instrumental in turning around the Company’s aerospace business and transforming TriMas’ business portfolio. Under his leadership, TriMas has expanded its product offerings and implemented process innovations to existing and adjacent end markets. As President and Chief Executive Officer, Mr. Amato implemented select divestitures and successfully navigated the Company through unprecedented global market conditions.

Herbert Parker, Chairman of TriMas’ Board of Directors stated, “On behalf of the TriMas Board, I would like to thank Tom for his contributions and dedication to TriMas. Tom has been a valued leader over the last eight years and has built a more focused company with a strong team across the organization. The Board and Tom believe now is the right time to undertake a search for Tom’s successor to lead the Company through its next chapter of growth and value creation.”

“It has been an honor for me to have led a company with such outstanding businesses over the past several years, and I thank the Board and our leadership teams for their commitment along this journey,” said Mr. Amato. “I am confident that TriMas is well positioned for future growth as we continue to focus our portfolio and align our businesses with customer demand. I look forward to supporting the Company and ensuring a smooth transition.”
